Overview of the Session:

- What is spirituality – is it religiousness?
- Why does spirituality matter – it’s role in development
- How does spirituality develop?
- How can parents and educators foster children’s spiritual growth?
What is Spirituality?

• Latin word spiritus - which means the breath of life

• Spirituality refers to a way of being that includes the capacity of humans to see beyond themselves, to become more than they are, to see mystery and wonder in the world around them, and to experience private and collective moments of awe, wonder, and transcendence.

• Spirituality is universal - All cultures have a concept of a transcendent, sacred and divine force
Spirituality vs. Religion

- the private intimate relationship between person and the divine
- the range of virtues that result from that relationship

- acceptance of the prescribed beliefs in a supreme being
- accompanying participation in public and private acts of worship
Why Spirituality Matters?

• Increased health, both physical and emotional
• Better grades
• More optimistic
• Higher levels of happiness
As children develop:

- Concepts of right/wrong - good/evil are formed
- Image of God formed
- Personal relationship with spiritual being
- Tendency to believe in internal causes for external events
Building Blocks of Spirituality

  - Einstein – the most important decision each person makes is deciding whether or not this is a friendly universe

  - What you acknowledge
  - What is given “air time”

The Power of Parents/Family

• Most important social influence on religious and spiritual lives of adolescents

• Typical adolescent is not reflective or appreciative of this

• Mothers play a central role in shaping religious affiliation and patterns of religious involvement

• Fathers play significant role in structuring son’s religious beliefs and patterns of religious involvement while mothers play central role in how sons apply the principles of religion in everyday life
I used to have long conversations with my mother, in fact, it was a monologue rather than a dialogue. She talked and I “happened” to overhear. . . . I used to watch her arranging the house in honor of a holiday. I used to see her recite prayers; I used to watch her recite the sidra every Friday night. Most of all I learned that Judaism expressed itself not only in formal compliance with the law but also in a living experience.

She taught me that there is a flavor, a scent and warmth to mitzvot. I learned from her the most important thing in life, to feel the presence of the Almighty and the gentle pressure of His hand resting upon my frail shoulders. Without her teachings, which quite often were transmitted to me in silence, I would have grown up a soulless being dry and insensitive.

The fathers knew much about the Shabbat, the mothers lived the Shabbat, experienced her presence and perceived her beauty and splendor.
Important Consideration: Individuality

- It is impossible to tell people what way they should take. For one way to serve God is through learning, another through prayer, another through fasting and still another through eating. Everyone should carefully observe what way his heart draws him to, and then choose his way with all his strength. Chozeh of Lublin in Buber, 1961, 313, Tales of the Hasidim: The Early Masters

- The idea that there are multiple pathways is clear in Jewish thinking - Al shlosha devarim ha olam omed, al ha torah, v'al ha avodah, v'al gemilut chasadim.
Important Consideration: Motivation

- Dangers of punishment/reward
- Consider the role of skills and skill challenges
- Constructing/facilitating situations where spirituality is “cool”, supported by social pressure
Important Consideration: Time

• Not a one-time lesson
• Endless opportunities
• Endless possibility for growth, new approaches
If we want to support each other’s inner lives, we must remember a simple truth, the human soul does not want to be fixed, it wants simply to be seen and heard. If we want to see and hear a person’s soul, there is another truth we must remember: the soul is like a wild animal—tough, resilient, and yet shy. When we go crashing through the woods shouting for it to come out so we can help it, the soul will stay in hiding. But if we are willing to sit quietly and wait for a while, the soul may show itself.
